

Stage Intro

Heather R YOUNGER J.D.

Our next speaker has spent more than 20 years leading teams through the moments that test leaders most—reorgs, mergers, acquisitions, and the kind of high-stakes situations where results mattered, people depended on her, and decisions couldn't wait.

That experience taught her how to lead. It also showed her what happens when leaders pour everything into everyone else—and forget to include themselves in that care.

Today, she's on a mission to change that.

She's an Inc. Top 50 Leadership and Management Expert, a Thinkers50 Radar Thought Leader, and a four-time bestselling author whose books include The Art of Caring Leadership, The Art of Self-Leadership, and The Art of Active Listening—with her next book, The Unshakable Team, arriving in 2026.

Her research spans more than 40,000 employee surveys and 350 leader interviews, and her clients include Kaiser Permanente, the CDC, Prudential, and Xerox.

She's the creator of the C.A.R.E. framework for Unshakable Leadership™ and host of the podcast Becoming Unshakable—and she's here to show us what it really takes to lead, listen, and stay grounded through pressure without losing ourselves in the process.

Please welcome Heather R Younger.

AV Needs-LIVE Events

Heather R YOUNGER J.D.

Heather R Younger's Technical Requirements - Live Events

Heather's presentation uses a heavy amount of images, all embedded into her Keynote deck that she runs from her Dell Inspiron 14 5000.

Due to the custom nature of her presentation, it is not possible to run the slides from another machine or provide them prior to the presentation.

Heather's requirements are as follows:

- Prior to the presentation, a bottle of water with a screw cap
- A 16.9 digital data projector, ideally with an HDMI connection
- 3.5mm sound lead to play audio from her laptop
- A fold-back screen (a monitor so Heather can see which slides are on-screen from anywhere on stage).
- Preferably no barriers on stage (no lecterns or podiums)
- A Countryman or over the ear-type microphone is preferred to a lapel mic
- Three mic runners in the audience with handheld microphones for audience interaction
- A bottle of water on stage
- When the talk time is 1 hour and 15 minutes or more, Heather includes a fun group written visualization exercise for the attendees. A flip chart with some crayons/markers/stickers for each table (upon request)
- Walk On Song: © owned by Heather R Younger - Intro Song - Make a Change Part 1
- Walk Off Song: © owned by Heather R Younger - Extro Song - Make a Change-part 2
- Heather will bring Blackmagic Video Assist (field recording device) to take a copy of the live video feed of the presentation. She can connect to your vision desk via HDMI or HD-SDI, assuming it is possible to loop out a signal from your cameras.
- For the Culture of Listening talk, Heather will require a technical team to launch and help manage a Mentimeter poll at the beginning of her keynote.

SOUND CHECK: Heather requires no more than 30 minutes. The sound check needs to occur within two (2) to three (3) hours of her presentation time.

RECORDING: Heather is happy to be video-taped; a separate Right of Use Agreement must be authorized by the Customer if they are taping her presentation.

LONG BIO

Heather R YOUNGER J.D.

Heather R. Younger, J.D., CSP, is a leadership and workplace culture keynote speaker, researcher, consultant, and four-time bestselling author whose work helps organizations build leaders and teams that can weather any storm.

Named an Inc. Top 50 Leadership and Management Expert and a Thinkers50 Radar Thought Leader, Heather brings more than 20 years of hands-on experience leading teams through high-stakes situations where results mattered, people depended on her, and decisions couldn't wait.

For years, she taught leaders how to care, how to listen, connect, and create workplaces where people feel valued. But at the pinnacle of her most successful year as an entrepreneur, she hit a wall. She realized she'd forgotten to include one person in all that care: herself.

That moment changed everything. She began to turn the mirror inward, to pause, listen to her own needs, and question what she valued and what she was sacrificing. What she discovered became the foundation of her signature C.A.R.E. framework for Unshakable Leadership™. When leaders are grounded and resourced in care, they become the calm in the chaos. And when leaders are unshakable, they create cultures where teams can breathe again.

Heather's research foundation includes analysis of more than 40,000 employee survey comments and 350+ leader interviews. This work grounds her keynotes, workshops, and consulting in what people actually experience at work, not just what looks good on paper. She speaks to healthcare professionals, financial advisors, tech teams, and leaders across industries who show up with heart and purpose because they know their work matters and who are tired of being told to "be more resilient" without being given the tools to actually sustain themselves.

She is the author of The Art of Caring Leadership, The Art of Self-Leadership, and The Art of Active Listening, with her fourth book, The Unshakable Team, arriving in September 2026. She also hosts the podcast Becoming Unshakable, where she explores what it takes to lead with resilience, compassion, and purpose through candid conversations with executives, frontline leaders, and everyday changemakers.

Heather's clients span healthcare, financial services, technology, and beyond, including United Healthcare, Kaiser Permanente, the CDC, Prudential, DuPont, Stellantis, Con Edison, and Xerox. She partners with leaders who care deeply about the work they do and the people they serve and who are ready to stop pouring from an empty cup and start building something that lasts.
